Be Active Enjoy Life

Women with urinary incontinence tend to withdraw from social occasions and hide the problem; not realizing urinary incontinence can be treated and controlled.

If you have experienced

- Loss of urine while exercising
- Loss of urine while coughing, sneezing or laughing
- The need to urinate frequently
- Getting up to void more than once at night
- Loss of urine following an urgent sense to void
- Inability to make it to the bathroom

Then perhaps you are one of the 30 million Americans who suffer from urinary incontinence

Who suffers?

- 33% of American women
- 50% of nursing home patients
- 25% of reproductive aged women
- 46% of post menopausal women

Millions of women suffer with this unnecessarily, yet it is easily corrected.

Let us help break the statistical patterns. Call our office today or visit our website for more information.

Syracuse New Times, in collaboration with Pro Active Resources named our Women's Incontinence Center as one of Syracuse's top 12 finest in Medicine in 2008
